By Air

Boston is served by Logan International Airport. Taxi stands are located outside of most baggage claim areas. You can also board an airport bus to the Airport MBTA station located on the Blue Line, part of Boston's subway system. Take the Blue Line inbound to State; then change to the Orange Line (towards "Forest Hills"), travel one stop, transfer to the Red Line (towards "Braintree" or "Ashmont") to South Station. Exit the train and proceed up the stairs to the Commuter Rail platform. See "Public Transportation" below.

By Train/Bus

All major train and bus lines come into South Station. From here transfer to the commuter rail. MBTA commuter rail serves nearby Mansfield and Attleboro.

By Public Transportation

Amtrak provides express rail service from Boston and Providence. From Boston's South Station, an MBTA commuter rail serves nearby Mansfield and Attleboro. Check MBTA commuter rail schedules for more information. The Bonanza Bus Company offers round-trip transportation from Logan Airport in Boston and from T.F. Green Airport in Providence and points in both cities.

Local Transportation

Wheaton also provides free transportation to several local commuter rail and MBTA connecting points. To find out more, check out Wheaton Wheels.

By Car

Don't have a car? You can still go far, with Wheaton's transportation services.

Wheaton offers GATRA. GATRA service is free to students, staff and faculty with a Wheaton I.D. GATRA runs Monday through Sunday and is a flag-stop system, which means that passengers board a bus anywhere safe along its route. A "wave" signals the bus operator to pull over and pick you up. GATRA services routes into Attleboro, Taunton and Mansfield. Mansfield service does not have a flag stop system for pick-up along its route, GATRA only goes to the T-station once it enters Mansfield. You can pick up GATRA at the Slype (the archway between Everett and Everett Heights) on Howard Street.

Service is free in the following ways:

- Local service between Wheaton and the Mansfield MBTA station via route 140 in Norton and Main Street in Mansfield. Wheaton pick up site at the Slype.
- Gatra route 18 intercity bus route between Taunton and Attleboro. Connections from these points will be at the normal public transportation rates. You can pick up a GATRA packet of all the routes, times and fees at the Information desk in Balfour-Hood, The Office of Student Life and the Bookstore. If you have questions or concerns on schedules, times or routes please call Gatra at (508) 823-8828 or on the web at www.gatra.org and enjoy the service
